

LATCHMOOR,
THE COMMON,
GERRARD'S CROSS.

September 9th 1914

Dear Mr de Lászlo

I have just received your picture of Mrs Harmsworth and shall start the copy at once.

Yesterday I went to Londonderry House and saw the portrait of Lord Castlereagh. They ~~wish~~ do not want to part with it and wish the copy made there.

I have said I would do it

There immediately I have finished the Mrs Harmsworth and I said my price was £40. Lady Castlereagh will let me know
soon whether she wishes me to do it. I like the portrait very much.
When I first heard of the possibility of another copy of the Mrs Harmsworth being wanted I wrote to my brother who is a paper and board merchant asking if he could supply me with a board similar to the one you use.

He wrote back saying he could get a manufacture to make a board exactly like in every way but I should have to order 25 or 50.
I had sent a small piece of board for him to see.
I told him I could not go any further in the matter without asking your permission

I hope you do not mind
my making these enquires

It has occurred to me since, that you might like to know of a place in this country where you could get the boards

Yours sincerely

Frederick Bullen
