

6th August, 1924.

My dear Friend,

I have just returned from my mission on the Continent. They were very sad days for me, as it was my youngest sister and it was hard to feel that our family since the war, has been reduced to three members.

It was a great disappointment to me not to be able to enjoy more of your and your wife's presence, and I hope that what I have missed here, I will have the opportunity of making up on the Continent. Our programme, as you know, is to leave on the 19th of this month for Norway, where I am going to spend two weeks with my family, and shall then go to Spa for a short watering cure, and from there to Paris, where from about the 20th September, ~~my~~ address will be, 42Bis, Avenue Henri Martin, Paris. I do hope that my wife will be with me too for a week, and we can meet and spend a few happy hours together. I have so much to talk to you about the present and future plans, as there are possibilities that I shall visit, in the second half of January next, your hospitable country.

I am sure you live now in interesting and memorable days, as your noble work is so much connected with the future peace of Europe. I should be so pleased to hear from you as soon as you are able to find time to write.

It is a great satisfaction to me to know that during your short visit here, you were able to spend a few hours in our home, and that you have seen my exhibition. It was a pleasant surprise to me to find your book. The value of this great and serious work, which I am so proud to possess, has been increased by your charming and generous dedication. Many, many thanks for it.

I am looking forward to hearing from you, and my wife joins me in sending warmest greetings and best wishes to you both.

Please convey my homage to Mrs. Scott, and believe me, always in true and sincere friendship,

Yours,

James Brown Scott Esq.,
