My dear Philip

I've Price wrote me the news of the terrible accident. I'm Patrick has and I am thankful to God that he has escaped. But, I can't imagine what an awful shock he must have had and how he must feel the tragic victim of the accident. As an old friend I am writing a few words to tell how I feel with all of you. Please communicate to Lucy and to Pat too my sympathy and the great joy over his having got through without serious injury.

Though I don't know them I sincerely sympathize with the parents, what a fate of stroke losing a daughter in such a terrible way. Having seen her gone and through one day older and I grow the more I come to the conviction that this mortal life is only a part of our existence. It cannot be that the Creator should mete out the earthly life of His creations in such an unjust / seemingly / manner. The Universe of which we are a part, and it must be for our best whatever happens to us. Why? We are not given the faculty to understand, and we have simply to submit to the supreme will and wisdom of God!

I do hope Patrick is as well as he can be under the circumstances, he is a strong, young chap and he will get over the effect of that sad period of his life. I wish that it should be so and give my love to him.

They are well. I hope that both you and Jim spent a week in Scotland, I hope you are going to see them and play golf in the Buntingham Golf course is very nice and their is an excellent professional I have seen other boys are holing in to all of them why are these pants poor Johnny give him a hand pressed trousers!

Now, a few words about myself. I will be glad as I can't say any thing very happy, could have been been very happy if the morning for the painters and the fine day with me for a while. I don't have very tired but relaxing and I went to Italy. I feel very low down, I went to see a doctor he advised me to take a care. I will do it as he said what be my self (no home) I feel help and placation. I don't know how it will be with me when leaving me. I hope we shall gradually meet here later in the summer, With love your old friend
