SANREMO (ITALY)

C. P. E. Imperia N. 2886.

dear Mrs de Cassels,

I was delighted to see your letter from the Chaudron and you will have no quarrel with me, but I was awfully ill before, but excellent Italian doctor here to report from the Chaudron that I was slightly ill of the chest and that I had similar pain since my stay in the mountains of an old illness, but I may get better in the future. At least, my sister's Rheumatism are caused by Neuralgia.

I do not want to bore you with medical details certain in fact is wintering in Riviera is not a success; it seems to me that there is a tremulousness of the system, too exhilarating & exciting for a hyper-nervous girl with a hyper-nervous excitable temperament. I shall dare to say you will place her in a suitable place first another suitable place. The girl had
