Dear Mr Laszlo -

If you are in Bond St you might glance at these trifles. They are no good of course but I thought they might be attractive as souvenirs, but after a fortnight - none are sold -

I am trying to get a letter from portrait for the next show - but this place is terribly cold - do not forget me if you have a copy to be done - I have not earned anything since June -

People do not want pictures. It is quite a problem for an artist to make his expenses -

The portrait of the Queen of Spain reproduced in the Morning Post was very attractive - I have a fine photograph from New York Times of your medieval portrait of the Crown Prince of Italy - I think it is one of your best

Yours sincerely Trevor Haddon -
