

International Press-Cutting Bureau,

Extract from
MORNING LEADER

REGINA, Sask:

2 MAY 1925

Date

Noted Reginans 912. Depicted in Oils

Two of the latest additions to Regina's gallery of art are portraits of Lieutenant Governor Newlands and Mr. Justice Martin. Both portraits were painted by the famous British artist, Phillip de Lazlo, London, England, to whom Lieutenant Governor Newlands and Judge Martin gave several sittings, while they were in the empire capital last summer, as delegates of the Canadian Bar Association.

Lieutenant Governor Newlands' portrait is hanging in one of the reception rooms at government house, while Judge Martin's picture hanging on the walls outside the Saskatchewan legislative chamber at the Parliament buildings.