Dear Mr. Remy

Your letter of the 21st., has just reached me .
I need not tell you that I shall be glad to place my portrait at your disposal. You mention that Mr. Remy was to call for it today. I gave instructions before I left London that the pictures were to be handed over, and I hope that Mr. Remy has not encountered any difficulty, but the notice of his visit was rather short.

I quite understand that there should be difficulty in finding room for Lady Lansdowne's picture, which I am glad to retain.

We shall hope to see your exhibition soon after our return to London. I am sure it will be an immense success.

*Yours sincerely
Lansdowne*
