Dear Sir,

Sir Archibald Edmonstone has called in here, and mentioned to us that you had written him asking for the loan of the portrait of his son (the cadet.) Sir Archibald will be very pleased to lend it if you wish, and has instructed us to collect it. Will you kindly let us know whether you wish this portrait to be included in your exhibition.

We enclose herewith written proof of the proposed card of invitation, and we would like you to please send it back to us by return with your opinion of it.

We would suggest, however, that in place of your name at the top of the card, we should have, as is usual on most of our cards - "114th Exhibition."

We are, dear Sir,
Yours faithfully,

P. A. de Laszlo, Esq.,
3, Fitzjohn's Avenue, N.W.
