

3th June, 1925.

Dear Mr. Winchester,

I am anxious to see you on a very important matter, and I would be very pleased if you could either come here to luncheon to-morrow or in the afternoon at 5.30. so that we could have a little chat.

Hoping this will be convenient to you,

Believe me,

Yours sincerely,