Dear Sir,

We are duly in receipt of your letter of yesterday's date. At present Mr. Winchester is laid up with influenza, but we hope that he will be here at the beginning of next week. If therefore it would be equally convenient to you perhaps you could arrange a day then, otherwise Mr. Wallis will come and see you on Friday next, but it would suit him better if you could make it next week as he is very short handed at present, since Mr. Firmin is also away with influenza.

We are, dear Sir,
Yours faithfully,

Wallis & Son
